Subject: Clarification if This Captures Loco Emissions? - RE: Have your say on the POEO Clean Air review

Good Morning [REDACTED]

Received the below update from NSW EPA on 'Have Your Say' on the review of regulations re POEO Clean Air review.

A quick question, which you guys in the NSW EPA will be much better placed to provide a more accurate / expedient response upon, does what is being proposed insofar as 'plant' is concerned capture (by design or unintentionally) diesel locomotive emissions? That is to say, are diesel locomotives their own thing, or are they considered 'plant'?

Having just recently been through the exercise of Licencing in the rail industry, and the complexity of issues etc. very keen to not see the goal posts now being shifted on what was only settled recently.

If you can please review and advise, we would be grateful.

Appreciate your consideration and assistance.

Kind Regards,
